

Sectional Valve Rig

Designed in partnership with British Energy

These double sided rigs are mounted on a box section frame and move easily on the non marking polyurethane castors.

The rigs can be utilised as a display or teaching aid and the valves are fully functional and allow trainees to understand the inner workings of the valves.

etc..... can supply a set of sectional valves to suit customers individual requirements and we can either supply the rigs complete or with components free issued by the customer.