

Anti Gapping Rig

Designed in partnership with British Energy

Designed to assist in training staff in the correct method of swaging the end fittings to the tie bar.

This unit has been manufactured to simulate the swaging operation with minimal clearance around the swaging head to make the operation as realistic as possible.