

SERT – Water Leak Repair Rig

Designed in partnership with British Energy

This equipment is designed to simulate a water leak in a section of pressurised pipe work.

It allows the Emergency Response Team (IRT/SERT) to practice repair techniques on equipment which is off line but looks similar to the real thing.

Supported on a heavy duty box section frame the rig can be easily transported on castors or lifted with a light fork lift truck.